Flag Etiquette

- The flag is normally flown from sunrise to sunset.
- In the morning, raise the flag briskly. At sunset, lower it slowly. Always, raise and lower it ceremoniously.
- The flag should not be flown at night without a light on it.
- The flag should not be flown in the rain or inclement weather.
- After a tragedy or death, the flag is flown at half staff for 30 days. It's called "half staff" on land, and "half mast" on a ship.
- When flown vertically on a pole, the stars and blue field, or "union," is at the top and at the end of the pole (away from your house).
- The American flag is always flown at the top of the pole. Your state flag and other flags fly below it.
- The union is always on top. When displayed in print, the stars and blue field are always on the left.
- Never let your flag touch the ground, never...period.
- Fold your flag when storing. Don't just stuff it in a drawer or box.
- When your flag is old and has seen better days, it is time to retire it. Old flags should be burned or buried. Please do not throw it in the trash.

Report on Club Tour

By Jill Thach

Those who met at the Winchester gas station were Aaron & Robin, Chet & Kay, John & Janet, Truett, Jill & Mo and Lorne & Christine. As we left we toured through Rancho Embarcadero then headed to our next stop at Nojoqui Park. There we met up with some folks from the Santa Maria club. Next stop was the Alisal River Grill in Solvang where tables were set up to accommodate our large group. Jack & Margo from our club also joined us at lunch. A beautiful & warm day & I think all enjoyed the time together.

Report of last Model A Club meeting

19 members were present at John Gilbertson's house on June 2, 2021. (I didn't count the chickens and ducks, although they were pretty cute! See picture on page 9). The treasurer, Margaret, reported $6177.53 in the Club's savings account and $114 in petty cash. She also reported that the club now has 46 members. She reminded all those who haven't yet paid their dues to do so.

There were several reports of mended knees (René and Margo), a brief hospital stay for Aaron, and a new job at the airport for young Matt. Good news all around.

There will be no business meeting in July, but we will gather at Fred and Cyndy's for a BBQ and Fireworks viewing. See the official notice on the first page.

Jack Callis asked that the members think about the purpose of the Club. Where do we go from here? What is really good, what isn't, do we want more tours, different tours, programs? All ideas are welcome and you can let Jack know what they are. For example, Bill Mochnik suggested an orchid tour, or even an ostrich tour. Zebras? Someone else asked when the Goleta Library would be available for meetings again, and Jill noted that Cody's is open for business and maybe the Friday night social gathering could be started up again.

At the conclusion of the meeting, Bill Mochnik won the drawing for a portable light switch, and Steve McGowan won the member draw. There was some joke about Swiss cheese, which I totally missed. Sorry!

Respectfully submitted, Susan Carty

The Book Column

by Susan Carty

The Thursday Murder Club

by Richard Osman

From the front flap:

In a peaceful retirement village in England, four unlikely friends meet weekly in the Jigsaw Room to discuss unsolved crimes; together they call themselves the Thursday Murder Club.

When a local developer is found dead, the Club finds itself in the middle of a live case. The friends might be septuagenarians but they are cleverer than most. Red Ron, an infamous former socialist firebrand still causes trouble whenever he can; gentle Joyce takes note of everyone's thoughts and actions in her diary, but she's not as innocent as she seems; Ibrahim is a former therapist who understands the darker side of human nature; and Elizabeth, whose background is still not quite clear, is definitely a woman to underestimate.

This is a flat-out pleasure of a book to read, especially right now, when the outside world seems to be a bit tacky around the edges. The characters are wonderful, even the local law officer, PC Donna De Freitas, who finds herself in cahoots with the Club members as they all try and solve the crime.

Read it. You'll love it!
